IN THE POLICE COURT.

Many Cases Disposed of by Judges Kimball and Scott.

In the Police Court today the following cases were disposed of by Judges Kimball and Scott. Michael Kelly, Thomas McKean, Joseph Robinson, Charles Rodgers, and Charles Parsons were each charged with being idle and suspicious characters, without visible means of support. They were arrested in Benning yesterday, having just come in on a freight. Joseph Robinson, the only colored man of the party, impressed the court with his honest intentions and was released. The others were each sent to the workhouse for ninety days. Susie Young was positive that she was not disorderly in Second Street northwest last night, but the policeman said she was and a workhouse sentence of fifteen days was imposed. John Campbell, an old man, was charged with being a vagrant. He told the court that he had just completed a workhouse sentence, and thought it was strange "that a gentleman should be arrested on the street." A sentence of fifteen days in the workhouse was imposed, to enable him to get sober.

Junior Williams, colored, was charged with carrying a concealed weapon. The offense occurred in September of last year. In default of a $50 fine he was sent to jail for four months. Samuel Coleman, colored, pleaded guilty to assaulting two colored girls, Lucy Crowley and Lizzie Shelton. A jail sentence of three months in each case was imposed. William Pannell paid a fine of $5 for neglecting to procure a tag for his dog. He was further ordered to get the tag at once. This cost him $2 more. Judge Kimball said that after imposing a few fines of $5 he thought delinquents would be more prompt in securing their licenses.

William Hutchinson was convicted of stealing a bicycle valued at $30 belonging to Frederick R. Kutz. A sentence of ninety days in jail was imposed. Nathaniel Fairfax was fined $50, with the alternative of serving 120 days in jail, for being caught with a revolver in his possession. Jesse B. Flynn, a conductor on the Brightwood railroad, was the complainant against William Jones, colored, whom he charged with directing postmasters to fine of $5 was imposed, with the alternative of serving fifteen days in jail.

The Consumption of Postage Stamps.
A statement showing the number of postage stamps, stamped envelopes, and postal cards sold during the last quarter of the year 1899, compared with the sales of the same quarter in 1898, has been reported by the Postoffice Department. It shows that the total sales for the last quarter of last year were $24,257,546.25, an increase of $2,456,962.71, or 11.25 per cent. A singular feature of the table is the increase in postage due stamps issued. The number accredited to the last three months in 1898 is 3,965,670, against 5,344,210, representing in value $27,681, an increase of 26 per cent. This wide difference is thought to be due to a circular issued by Third Assistant Postmaster General Madden directing postmasters to watch the mails carefully and attach due stamps whenever mail matter is underpaid.

SALARIES OF POLICEMEN

Congress to Be Asked Again to Authorize an Increase.

The Pay Lower in Washington Than in Many Other Cities—Privates Assigned to Detective Duty Receive More Pay Than Sergeants—Recommendations of the Superintendent.

The District Commissioners will make another attempt during this session of Congress to secure an increase of pay for the officers of the Police Department and the detectives. According to the present schedule the latter receive as much pay as the lieutenants and more pay than the sergeants, yet they are only privates detailed for special work.

In other cities the lieutenants and detectives receive more pay than any of the grades of the force in this city. In some cases they are superior to the lieutenants as much as the pay of the Major and Superintendent here.

In his recommendations to the Commissioners on the subject, Major Sylvester says: "It is hoped that the pay of the several lieutenants will be raised from $1,320 to $1,500 per annum. These salaries were stated before the precincts or districts which the lieutenants command attained their present important dimensions, and before police regulations and the multiplicity of details which are exact today were embraced in the list of their duties. Their rank is superior to that of a private detailed as a detective, and yet the pay is the same. It is an inequitable and unreasonable distinction. It might seem strange, but it is nevertheless a fact, that it is inconsistent with good discipline for the man who at times must be ordered to know that if his title officially is not the same his compensation is that of the one who is ordered to obey."

"Like the lieutenants, the sergeants have for a score of years been receiving an annual salary of irregular amount—$1,100. They would justify the making of the pay $1,200. They enjoy liberty from duty but one day in three and their responsibilities have increased in greater proportion than have those of their immediate superiors, for the reason that while the privates have been added to by Congress from time to time, there has been no corresponding provision for sergeants."

"The enforcement of new restrictions for the good conduct and efficiency of the privates added to their duties, and they must not be set as lieutenants in all matters of a police nature during the daily temporary absence of the former. Prevailing arrangements are quite different in this respect to what they formerly were, and an intelligent and straightforward performance of the duties of their offices is well worth the salary estimated for in this report."

The law which created the Detective Corps for the District of Columbia was enacted years ago, and since then, under new legislation, the authorities have been authorized to detail from among the privates on the force persons for special service, to the number of twelve, in citizens' clothes, as the circumstances might warrant, and they are allowed extra compensation in addition to their pay as policemen not to exceed $240 a year. In this view an organization is maintained which is styled the "Detective Service." The Major and Superintendent have been arranged by the police to have the detective force organized into three divisions, each of which will be in charge of a certain territory, and each of which will be in charge of a certain territory, and each of which will be in charge of a certain territory.

These representatives of the past, by reason of meagre appropriations, have been tied down to home study, and their familiarity with the criminal classes has been limited to local characters and methods. However, good fortune has generally been with them in times when the "professional" visited here, and despite their meagre national experience the detectives have "picked up" some of the most dangerous and desperate crooks in the land.

"It has been any aim to extend the facilities for individual advancement in the secret service, and to that end one or more of their number is detailed to important gatherings in other parts of the country to participate in detective work, in order to familiarize them with the latest methods of crime. A day has passed when it takes a thief to catch a thief. Brute force is an antiquated requirement in the detective business. In these days honest, intelligent, courageous operators are employed, who realize that they are the agents of a business institution which is constantly looking for results."

This community has been educated to report any and all losses and mishaps of every conceivable kind to the Detective Bureau. Whether the stolen article was an umbrella, pair of gloves, or diamond pin, the case was given to the detective. Travel instead of being assigned to the police at the nearest precinct station, thus expending the time and means of an important auxiliary on trivial matters, often to the neglect of the more important work. By detailing four more privates in a detective capacity, who are expected to do a great deal of minor matters, it is hoped the older and experienced men will be given abundant opportunity to devote their attention to the larger and more pressing cases. The Triumph of Love is Happy, Fruitful Marriage.

Every man who would know the grand truth, plain facts, the new discoveries of medical science as applied to married life; who would atone for past errors and avoid future pitfalls, should secure the wonderful little book called

"Complete Manhood and How to Attain It."

No Money in Advance. Treatment on Trial and Approval. We send one full month's Remedies of wonderful power, and a marvelous Appliance to strengthen and develop, on trial and approval, without pay, deposit or obligation. No exposure, no "collect on delivery" scheme—no deception of any kind. A despairing man who had applied to us, soon after wrote: "Well, I tell you that first day one I'll never forget. I was bubbling with joy. I wanted to hug everybody, and tell them that my old self had died yesterday and my new self was born today. Why didn't you tell me when I first wrote that I would find this way?" And another wrote thus: "If you dumped a cartload of gold at my feet it would not bring such gladness into my life as your method has done."

In answering be sure and mention this paper, and the company promises to send the book in sealed envelope without any charge. Write to the ERIE MEDICAL COMPANY, Buffalo, N. Y., and ask for the little book called "COMPLETE MANHOOD."

THINGS THEATRICAL.

After all, only stars pour in purse or in talent go about the country badly supplied and, therefore, inefficiently in a company is acknowledgment, generally, of the latter difficulty; occasionally, of the former. That Mrs. Fiske, who will be seen in "Booby Sharp" next week at the Lafayette, has surrounded herself with such artists as Maurice Barrymore, Augustus Cook, Robert V. Ferguson, Charles Plunkett, Wilfrid North, William F. Owen, and Zenaid Williams reminds one anew that she does not shirk because of the near-by darkness. Mrs. Fiske always has been scrupulously careful of the manner in which are acted the most trifling bits in her productions. And this fact, almost as much as her own work, stamps her a genius.

In reviewing Stuart Robson's production of "Oliver Goldsmith" recently, George Ade was prompted to write of Augustus Thomas, its author, as follows: "I must confess that I find it difficult to use temperate language in speaking of the work of Mr. Augustus Thomas. When one who is one of the greatest of the theatre and actors in America are devoting themselves to melodramas borrowed from some 'Booby Sharp' or 'The Two Orphans,' Mr. Thomas has continued to write clear, high-grade American plays. All of them have been an exception to the rule, and they will be remembered by the public as being of the highest quality. He is distinctly a right."

Such praise from Chicago's famous critic-author betokens a deal of charm in the new piece, which will be done next week at the Columbia.

Minnie Palmer, fresh from her London success, will bring to the stage of the 'All to the Grand tomorrow, when she makes her vaudeville debut in this city with a sketch that is said to be as brilliant as it is enjoyable. The bill also will introduce Genaro and Bailey, cake-walkers; the Three Golden, who do a little of everything; Stephens and Taylor, who present a sketch entitled "His Uncle's Nephew"; the Brothers Melrose, acrobats; the Zaza Trio, which offers a decided novelty, and the Biograph, Ching Ling Foo, by the way, packed the Grand to the doors this afternoon, and there is every prospect that the occurrence will be repeated tonight. The Chinese magician has enabled Manager Chase to break three of his own records.

Terry McGovern, the "game" little pugilist who recently defeated George Dixon, has been engaged as a special feature for the performances to be given next week at Kerner's by Clark Brothers' "Royal" Burlesques. Twice daily he will appear with his partners. The two should excite a deal of interest among the patrons of the Lyceum, and undeniably will strengthen what already appears to be an exceptional bill. The specialty people to be given include the Escamille Brothers, Tenley and Simonds, Emma Weston, the Magari Family, Castellan and Hall, Charles Falk, Charles Lillian, Coulter and Starr and Minnie Reinhart.

CIVIC CENTRE LECTURES.

The Plans of the University Extension Committee.

The University Extension Committee of the Civic Centre will make a preliminary report on popular education next Tuesday evening at a public meeting to be held in the hall of the Columbian University. Addresses on the subject will be delivered by President B. L. Whitman, of the Columbian University; Prof. J. M. Coulter, of the University of Chicago; Mr. W. B. Powell, Superintendent of Schools, and Mr. Murray Galt Motter, Chairman of the Council of the Civic Centre.

The committee has arranged for five courses of lectures to be given under the joint auspices of the Civic Centre and the Board of School Trustees in the Central High School hall, corner Seventh and O Streets northwest, on Tuesday and Thursday evenings beginning January 30.

These courses will partake to some extent of the character of the free lectures for the people that are given in the public school buildings in New York and some other cities, the Columbia University lectures in co-operation with Cooper Union, or the Lowell Institute lectures in Boston.

The University Extension methods will be employed, however, in connection with some of the courses, at least to the extent of using a printed syllabus to assist the memory of the audience. These syllabi will be given in the form of reference books on the subjects treated by the lecturers for the benefit of any who have the time and inclination to pursue the study for themselves; and provision will be made by the officials of the Library of Congress and those of the other libraries in this city to make these books as accessible as possible to the public. The lectures as well as the preliminary meeting next Tuesday evening will be entirely free to the public.

The lectures have been arranged in two general groups. The Tuesday evening lectures will be on subjects connected with the social sciences, and the Thursday evening lectures will be on natural science.

The first course, beginning Tuesday evening, January 30, will be on "Municipal Government," by Dr. E. Dana Durand, Assistant Professor of Finance and Administration, in the Leland Stanford, Jr., University. This course will consist of five lectures treating of the functions and organization of city governments, and proposing remedies for existing abuses. This will be followed by a course on the "Social History of Europe," by Mr. M. L. Jacobson, of the Bureau of Statistics, and the Treasury Department, who delivered a course of lectures on the same topic last year before the Educational Alliance, of New York city, and has been otherwise identified with popular education in that city. The third and last of the Social Science courses will be on the general subject of "The Evolution of Industry," and the lectures will be delivered by the Hon. Carroll D. Wright, Commissioner of Labor; Mr. G. F. Powers, and Mr. H. T. Newcomb, of the Census Office, and Prof. Charles P. Neill, of the Catholic University of America.

The first course in natural science beginning on Thursday evening, February 1, will treat in a popular way of the adaptation of various forms of plant and animal life to their environments. The first lecture will be delivered by Prof. John M. Coulter, of the University of Chicago, who has just published an important work entitled "Plant Relations," and he will be followed by Mr. Frederick V. Coville, Dr. L. O. Howard, Dr. F. S. Palmer, and Mr. Vernon Bailey, all of the Department of Agriculture. The second natural science course will be on geological topics, and will be given by Mr. J. S. Diller and Mr. G. K. Gilbert, of the Geological Survey, and Major J. W. Powell, and Mr. W. J. McGee, of the Bureau of American Ethnology.

At a recent meeting of the Library of Congress, the Librarian of Congress, Mr. John Edgar Hoover, and the President of the American Federation of Labor, have been invited to honor the occasion with their presence and to occupy seats upon the platform.

Christian Endeavor Meetings.

The services of Dr. W. F. Chapman, the evangelist, have been secured by the Christian Endeavor Union for two meetings arranged for Monday, January 29. One of these meetings will be open to the public, is scheduled to begin at 4:15 in the afternoon of that day, at the Mount Vernon Methodist Church. The other meeting is intended for Christian Endeavorers, principally, but will be thrown open to all before Dr. Chapman begins his address. Up to 7:45 admission will be by card only. The meeting takes place Monday evening, January 29, at the First Congregational Church.
